

Bret Evans

Business Manager

As Business Manager for Savannah River Remediation, Bret Evans is responsible for the accounting and finance, information technology, property and chemical management programs.

Mr. Evans has more than 30 years of progressive experience and leadership; a demonstrated ability to plan, develop, coordinate, and direct detailed phases of business administrative functions; perform work requiring advanced management experience and knowledge of business; and administration principles and procedures. Mr. Evans leads and directs skilled business management competencies in the areas of financial analysis, forecast/estimate, budget development, rate development, cost control, strategic planning, operations, financial report, and proposal development.

Prior to his current position, Mr. Evans was a Principal Financial Analyst for Westinghouse Savannah River Company in the Projects Engineering and Construction Division.

Prior to working at SRS, Mr. Evans was a Senior Business Manager at URS-Global Management and Operation Services in Aiken, South Carolina.

Mr. Evans awards include the Westinghouse Total Quality Achievement Award in 1992, the Westinghouse Vice-President's Award in 1999 and 2000, and the Touchstone Energy CEO Award in 2005.

Mr. Evans' professional activities include the YMP Benefits Committee managing the Defined Contribution and 401(k) Plan; GMOS Talent Development Program; Past Executive Committee and Secretary of South Carolina Palmetto Utility Protection Service, Inc.; and Past Board Secretary of South Carolina Damage Prevention Services, Inc.

Mr. Evans and his wife, Lisa, live in Aiken, South Carolina

Education

- Georgia Regents University
Bachelor of Science,
Business Administration
- Southern Wesleyan
University
Masters in Management
Sciences with Honors