SRR Community Giving

Since its contract began in July of 2009, Savannah River Remediation (SRR) has given more than $4 million in the area of education, health and welfare, civic and social work, cultural performances and programs, and local business sustainability. SRR believes that supporting these areas raises everyone’s quality of life.

In addition, SRR employees continue to demonstrate compassion to charitable causes, realizing that it is better to give than to receive. From fundraising during the annual SRR United Way Campaign to ringing Red Kettle bells for the Salvation Army, SRR employees have shown a dedication to helping those less fortunate. SRR employees have made donations and given their time, volunteering as mentors, performing home repairs, and serving on committees, all with a commitment to helping others.
United Way is a key charitable focus for SRR in the form of capital and volunteer labor. In 2018, SRR employees raised over $270,000 for the United Way Campaign. Along with corporate funding, SRR employees and family members volunteer for Project VISION, Project CARE, and Project SERVE, all of which help clean and repair public and private properties of the Central Savannah River Area.

Year-round giving includes charitable giving to the Salvation Army, Toys for Tots, and American Heart Association.
